

18 Flavored Lip Balm Recipes to Protect Your Lips from the Elements

The skin on your lips is delicate and thin, making it more susceptible to damage from the sun, wind, and cold. That's why it's important to protect your lips with a good lip balm, especially during the winter months.

Commercial lip balms often contain harsh chemicals and artificial ingredients that can actually do more harm than good. That's why it's best to make your own lip balm using all-natural ingredients.
