The Journey

Kim's journey to heal her son was long and difficult. There were many times when she doubted herself, but she never gave up hope. She started by making changes to Nicky's diet, eliminating all processed foods, sugar, and dairy. She also began giving him supplements and herbs that were known to support the immune system and fight cancer. In addition to dietary changes, Kim also used a variety of other natural therapies, including massage, acupuncture, and energy healing.
